PRAIF PROM THE PAGEMENT PRIES.

[From the Loaden Herad-]
To turn scoffling Into reverence, enrose Into be stage, and to conquer the good opinion of the world in despite almost of itself, is a work not given to many men. There are a few seand examples in history, and but a few tend examples in history, and but a few. Therefore, when we find a ruler whose divastin reterned to pussage a reign of terror, and whose antecedents pointed him out rather as an avenger than a bealer of social disorder, winning his way in the world's esteem by clemency, the specticle makes a deep impression on our minds, and calls for remark not more generous than just. President Andrew Johnson has agreeably disoppointed at least one half of the world by a wike and estatemently be policy that will give him a high place in the Pautheon of the world by a wike and estatemently handler world had been morthies. Quite in another way to that contemplated by the Republican fanatics, he is the man for the time; and, while Washington has the credit of establishing his country's independence and settling its form of government, hadrew Johnson may yet go down to posterity as the statesman who, by a wise clemency, reconstructed the edifice when it had saffered a blow that shattered it as it constants.

that all the attempts to restore her remained fruitless.

The Duchess died far away from Madrid, at a chateau which had always been her avorite residence. She was hurled in the ismily vanit; and, as it is the cestom of the 8panish nobility, several valuables, among others her rings, were put into the cefiln. The treasures which had been left to obliviou with the Duchess sroused the capidity of some ruillans; they broke into the vault on the night following the funeral, robbed the dead woman, and would not leave the ceffin till they had plucked a flashing diamond from the finger of the corpse. On Thursday evening, as Mr. James Crew was returning to his home from his office, he was knocked down and most seriously if not fatsly irpored. The particulars, as far as we have been able to obtain them, are about as follows: Mr. Wim. Sofomon, hearing some noise near his gate, went to the door and saw what he supposed was a drunken man, reeling about the street. He soon discovered that it was Mr. Crew. He went out immediately, and found that he had been badly hurth some esoundrelly rufflan. His skull was terribly fractured and crushed, so much so that he has been insensible ever since. A har of from was found lying near, with which the villain had committed the outrage. President Johnson probably sees that both necessity and interest bid the recupared States to be loyal, and for this restores to each of them its institution, and to its citizens their liberties and property. THE PRESIDENT'S REPUTATION AT HOME. THE PRESIDENT'S REPUTATION AT HOME. Them York correspondence of the London News.] I think there has never, since the foundation of the Republic, been a President and Cabinet which enjoyed such freedom of action on all questions of foreign politics as the present. The causes of this are various. Among the principal are the high ideas which everybody or nearly everybody entertains of their skill and experience. Their reputation is such as none of their predecessors since Washington have enjoyed, and it would be hard to deny that it is well earned. But, whether carned or not, the ost sangnine friends ventured to hope has, no matter to what combination of circumstances it may have been owing, placed the men who had charge of its affairs during that period in a position such as no American statesmen since the revolutionary period ever held.

HIS SAGACITY AND PRUDENCE. (From the London News, editorial.)

We have not had to wait long for a justification of the belief of the most dispassionate observers that the restoration of the American Union is geing on as well as the difficulty of the case admits, and as the sagacity and prudence of the Government may fairly encourage the world to expect. * * We knew before that Mr. Johnson was no party man; and, if some of his sayings and doings looked rather like his being a sectional man, donbt was presently thrown on his having any twist from his Southern origin by some word of wisdom dropped, some glance of insight disclosed, which revived the hope that he really was more nearly adequate to the position he holds than any other known man in the country.

A MERCANTILE VIEW.
[From the London Shipping Gazette.] From the London Shipping Guzette.]
President Johnson is pursuing a temperate course in the reconstruction of the South, which is winning him golden opinions from the representatives of every party in the country, except only the extreme radicals, who advocate negro enfirst because it would throw into their own hands an amount of political power to which they have at present no defensible claim.

This gave the body-snatchers the truly cannibal idea of cutting the fluger. The pain aroused the apparently dead woman: she came to her sensee, sat up in her coffin, and, by her unexpected wakening, put the robbers to flight. When they departed they forgot to close the vanit. The duchess found sufficient strength to quit her coffin and return to the chateau, where she was at first taken for a ghost, and a priest was called in to exorcise it, but as he was unable to banish the specter, the people in the chateau gradually began to believe in her corporal existence. The duchess recovered and gave hirth to a boy, who has never lost the deathly pallor which he brought into the world with him. Howard's official report concerning the operations of the Freedmen's Bureau and the condition of thiogs in the South is still in the hands of the President, where it has been for seven or eight days, and its publication has not yet been permitted. The delay is ascribed to its containing statements concerning the spirit and conduct of the people in the robel States. It is calculated to show that the withdrawal of all Federal controil from those States would endanger the interests and safety of freedmen and Union peofe. The publication of the report is looked

MONDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1865. OF CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS -The GOVernor, in his message, speaks in terms of just tion of the charitable institutions of our State, the Eestern and Western Lunatic Asyluma, the Feeble-minded Institute at Frankfort, the Deaf and Dumb Asylum at Danville, and the Institute for the Blind at Louisville, and arges the necessity which exists for their "more ample support." We heartly concur in the

With the return of peace, they should receive quire to enable them to confer the greatest possible smount of good upon the smitten and were designed to bless. There is no more sa-These institutions are monuments of the Kentucky. They are jewels in her crown that ought to be cherished and kept always nished. To minister to a "mind diseased, and, if possible, restore reason to her auguone, is surely a work worthy of men and angels. Hew many, slart of the gifted children of genius have, in different ages and countries, been bereft of that great sunlight of the soul, reason, and been left to wander through a night all starless till the good God has seen proper to take them in mercy up where dark ness and shadows are unknown. Formerly it was thought that insanity is incurable, and too frequently it was supposed to mark the peiliar displeasure of the Creator against those thus afflicted. The victims were invested with a sort of superstitious dread, and they were left in numerous instances to perish miserably i their chains and dens and filth. But, thanks to or noble and advancing Christian civiliza a change for the better has been wrought, and canity is now known to be a disease, not of the mind itself, strictly speaking, but of the are manifested, and that in a multitude of cases it is capable of a radical and permanen ure, like any other disease. Science and medical skill have been gradually reducing the perentage of the absolutely incurably insane, and may yet entirely extinguish it.

With regard to the feeble-minded, a grechange has also been effected. It is found that all of the class are capable with judicious trea ent of some improvement, however slow and thus enabled, after a while, to support themselves. The old definition of Blackstone hat "an idiot or natural fool is one that hath had no understanding from his nativity, and therefore is by law presumed never likely to attain any," has become to some extent defective. He is capable of attaining some underinding, as the actual experiments which has been made prove. The education of the deal nd dumb enables them to become useful not notey members of society; and if the blind do not literally 'receive their sight," they are so taught that they can enjoy anything except the sense of sight to as great extent as any other members of the community

We are not familiar with the affairs of on Deaf and Dumb Asylum at Danville, and cannot, therefore, speak of its particular manage ment, but have no doubt it is in able and judicious hands, and worthy of the fostering care of the State.

With references the institution for the blind near this city we are better posted, and can peak more definitely. The location is most beautiful and lovely, and, under the vigilant and careful superintendence of Mr. Patton and his well-chosen associates, it is not only a school but a home for the blind, one of the best man red, meatest, and, in all respects, most admirable asylums of the kind that can be found in We paid it a visit not long ago, and were de

Mr. Patton to ever tasking his ingenuity for new means for giving employment to both boys and girls, and thus to enhance their pleasure and their improve-ment. The institution suffered severely by the war, the immates having been driven out of it, and the buildings turned into a hospital. Matters have been righted, however, and the Asylum is now in the full tide of successful progress. It is capable of accommodating many more pupils than it now has. Its advantages for the edu-cation of the blind should be made known broughout the State.

We were astenished to see the "Paradise Leet" and many other great works printed in raised characters, and to perceive with what readiness and intelligence the pupils read and appreciate them. This institution is indeed an honor and a glory to Kentucky, and richly merits all that she has done for it.

Somebody has observed by way of contrast between Christian and heathen civilization-if latter may be so termed—that there is not a single charitable institution for the benefit of men in any heathen country on the face of the earth. The remark was elicited by the ex stence of a sort of hospital for animals which was some years ago visited and des cribed by an American missionary in Burmah One of the mest vivid and thrilling descriptions of human wretchedness and horror we ever perused was Dr. Madden's account of his visit to the Mahometan mad-house at Cairo, in Egypt. It fairly thrilled one's blood. The victims were all chained like wild beasts in their dens and so remained till death relieved them of their miseries. Too little do we appreciate our noble and Portable Steam Engines

THE CONVENTION AT FRANKFORT IN JANUARY NEXT.—We are glad to observe that prominent and influential gentlemen, identified with the Agricultural Society of the State, are about to take decisive steps toward establishing in Kentucky a reliable system of labor. At a meeting of the Society, at Frankfort, on the 14th inst, a committee was appointed, in cordance with a resolution, to issue a call for a convention, comprising representatives of the industrial interests of the Commonwealth, to assemble in Frankfort, on the 11th of January next, the object of the convention being the adoption of the most judicious plan for enouraging the immigration of intelligent and ous men to Kentucky, as well as to discass the most effective principles upon which to construct a new system of labor. The call for this convention appeared in our columns on Saturday, and we carnestly invite to it the attention of the farmers throughout the St This subject is one of mighty import to this State. It pertains to interests that are fundamental to the weltare of Kentucky. The demand for reliable and efficient laborers in the midst of us is an exceedingly pressing one, the importance of which is sorely felt in every deartment of industry. The overthrow of slavery has necessarily left the cause of labor in a eranged condition in this State, and it is now incumbent upon our agriculturists, in co-oper ation with the Legislature, to device the readiest plan for remedying the consequent evils. We believe that those evils can be speed-ily removed by the concerted action of the eading agriculturists of the State, and the con-rention indicated by the present call will serve as the best medium through which the wants and wishes of our people can be know. The call proposes that each county in the State shall send delegates to the convention, in which the subects of labor and immigration shall be freely discussed, in connection with the needs of our indus trial interests. We are sure, at least we hope, that the meeting will be attended by representatives from every section of the State. The discussions likely to occur in the convention will cast a flood of light upon the material intere and inevitable destiny of Kentucky.

No State of the Union possesses the elements of wealth and greatness more bountifully than our own proud Commonwealth. We have a te as pure and genial as that of Italy: our

THE NEW CANAL SUBJECT -The feasibility of opening a canal from the river to the creek between First and Clay streets has been introced to public notice through the city press as well as by their able coadjutors on 'Change re is no danger of saying too much up in so vital a subject, provided truth and plausibility are kept in view. One of the most important articles to our city is fuel, and in order to get it at reasonable prices we must have honorable competition. Many parties in Louisville would Clerk, Il. H. Christmas. engage in the coal business if they could obtain r landings at the wharf for the discharge of their cargoes. This advantage can only be and by opening a canal as suggested. No one at all familiar with the geography of our river at need be told that no benefit would accrue to the coal importer even by the conversion of whole space between the Port and canal and First street into wharfage. But by the use of the natural basin formed by the Beargrass creek, there would be ample room for the discharge of coal, iron, salt, produce, lime, lumber, etc., affording every needed enco ment to all choosing to engage in the traffi; The advantages of such a public Improvement word be multiform. First of all our inade. te river front would be relieved of flat-boats and barges, giving a fine and commodious havoats. The owners of coal and other barges would have, in the creek inlet a ring safe from ice and storms, thus averting one of the heaviest losses to our river com erce. The earth taken from the canal could be used in filling and raising the old wharf above Third and Fulton streets—a work that is much peeded. From the convenient location of the he and Rolling Mill, by means of railways, at a ch less price than is now paid for carting. There is room on the creek for foundries an factories of all kinds, which could be supplied with coal and material at a trifling cost for drayage. Still another vastly important fact: The creek is now little else than a receptacle fo all the fifth which passes through the sewers

AMENDING OUR CITY CHARTER. -- We observe that a bill to amend the charter of this city i about to be pressed upon our State Legislature It is well understood that the bill was go up in the interest of a clique of men, who iarily and otherwise identified with the 'City Rallway Company," and looking to the agency of Mayor Tomppert being deposed under the charges of impeachment now prered against him, are preparing the way for reversing, if possible, the solemn adjudication of the court before which he is tried.

The amendment proposed is to the effect that a Mayor who has been impeached by the Common Council and convicted by the Board of ermen, sitting as a court, shall, contrary o the present wise provisions of the charter ely eligible to the Mayoralty again. nge thus sought to be made is utterly city, while a principle wholly at wa with our republican system of Government.

amount of respect for popular opinion as ex-Aldermen, sitting as a court to try a case coming within his jurisdiction, is to be subproval we would prefer that no such farce of a court should exist. Upon the same principle here involved, and for the same reasons the decisions of all the civil courts of Kentneky should be anbuitted to the people for ratification or rejection. In this way we can substitnte for our present system a thorougher de-mocracy, like that of Athena, in which the maner, as such, metead of their representative shall determine all legal and political questions. By this process, we might have the pride and pleasure of a hundred Mayoralty elections an-

In addition to the many theirs already teported, the sacredness of yesterday was violated by that worst of crimes, murder. About three o'clock in the atternoon a negro man, whose name we did not learn, was shot and killed by a youth named Charlie Klink, at the corner of Hancock street and Broadway. We hope the authorities will make an immediate investigation of the affair THE TRIAL OF THE MAYOR. - There will be an journed meeting of the court, composed of chamter, at 9 o'clock this morning, to concinde the investigation of the charges preferred by the Common C uncil against Philip Tomppert, ositive refusal on his part to discharge his duty e the executive officer of the city. We infer one, as the question involved appears to be imply as to whether the Mayor refused, after ing directed in the legal manner, to carry out the wishes of the Council in the matter of sign-ing the contract executed with Isham Henderson for the construction of a system of street allroads in this city. Extraneous matters may be sought to be introduced, but we presum the business before them by permitting outside

Oh! oft my mind recalls the hour When to my father's home eath came an uninvited guest From his dwelling in the tomb. had not seen his face before— I shuddered at the sight: and I shudder yet to think upon The anguish of that night!

routhful brow and ruddy check became all cold and wan, ope grew dim in which the light of radiant fancy shone;

It is God's world and not the devil's, and there has never been anything for one moment to shake our faith in it. Not only are seed time and harvest promised in the text, but the liberty and happiness of the human race on the earth, and that promise is being fulfilled. Consider the corruption that preceded our deluge—the people absorbed in material things—our politics vitiated—something as the world was before the days of the flood of Nosh; and not writered of arms alone have the results flaved.

before the days of the flood of Noah; and not by force of arms alone have the results flowed for which we are to-day thankful, but from divine interpresition and ald, for there is a drift in things which is not the drift of human action alone—the drift of a divine purpose for our welfare; and for this we are more thankful than anything else, when we stand as to-day, with the Bow of Promise breaking from the clouds which still roll above the nation, and with let us trust, thankfulners in the breasts of all, from the brightest in the land to the meanest freedman, who looks hopefully to heaven from the midst of his broken fetters.

ELOQUENT EXTRACT FROM DANIEL WEBSTER

At the present time the following extract of a speech made by Mr. Webster, the great man eloquent, will be read with interest. It was delivered more than thirty years ago, in reply to John C. Calhoun, on the bill to "provide for the collection of duties on imports," in February, 1833. At that time, it is known, Mr. Cal-

"nullification," as "secession" was that of his school of politicians. We quote as follows:

school of politicians. We quote as fo'lows:
If the friends of nullification should be able to propagate their opinions, and give them practical effect, they would, in my judgment, prove themselves the most skillful "architecte of ruin." the most effectual extinguishers of high-raised expreciation, the greatest blasters of human hopes, which any age has produced.
They wend stand up to proclaim, in tones which would plerce the ears of half the human which would heree the care of that race, that the last great experiment of representative government had failed. But if the Government do its draw, if it act with firmness and with moderation, these opinions cannot prevail. Re assured, that, among the political sentiments of this people, the love of union is still uppermost. They will stand fast by the Constitution, and by those who defind it. I rely on no temporary expedients of fact by the Constitution, and by those who defend it. I rely on no temporary expedients, on no political combination; but I rely on the true American feeling, the genuine patriotism of the people, and the imperative decision of the public voice. Disorder and confusion, indeed, may arise; seemes of commotion and contest are three temporary and property and the public voice.

In the exercise of the ample faculties with which I am invested, I have deemed it proper to adopt in Cabinet Counsel a decree, as follows:
Art. I. To all foreigners who may present themselves armed with the arms requisite for infantry or cavalry, in order to serve the Constitutional Government in the defense of the Independence of Mexico and its republican institutions, there shall be given, in addition to the pay assigned by law to the army, a bounty in land, at the termination of the way, or whenever they become unit for military service.

Art. 2. This bounty shall be of the value of one thousand dollars for all private soldiers and non-commissioned efficers; of the value of one thousand five hundred dollars for all officers from the grade of 2d Lieutenaut or ensign to that of Captair; and of the value of two thonesand collars for superior officers. and collars for superior officers.

Ich of Angus, 1863, or any other lands considered as national property.

Art. 4. The value of the unappropriated lands shall be estimated according to the assessment existing at the time of the granting of the bounty; and the value of the confessated lands and of the other considered as national property according to their respective valuations.

Art. 5. In order to promote the division of property, the largest extent of land that will be given to one person shall be the fourth part of an ordinary grazing farm, the difference being made up in number, or by other property, if the value of the land does not reach one thousand one thousand five hundred, or two thousand dollars, as the case may be.

Art. 6. The unappropriated lands that may be acquired in conformity with this law, and all the improvemente that may be made upon them, shall be exempted from the payment of all taxes for five years. As soon as there shall be fifty persons congregated as residents thereon, they shall have the right of forming themselves into a township, with the privilege of electing their manifold and then written to his brother Joseph and to Junot, and relates to some small popular movement in Italy.

"You will not tranguilize Italy by phrases, Follow my example at Bunsso. Barn a large village; shoot a dozen issurgents. My intention is that the village where the mutiny broke out be burnt, that the priest now in charge of the bishop at Plaisance be shot, and that three or four hundred of the Insurgents be sent to the galleys. Burn two or three villages; let no vestige of their existence remain.

You are far too good for the country over which you rule. You must disarm the people, have them judged, and transported. Never pardon. Let ex hundred at least of the insurgents be shot. They killed more than that amount of my own eddiers. Burn the houses of thirty of the principal persons in the villages and divide their property among your troops. Disarm all the inhabitants and pillage five or six of the villages which have mutinled.

I very much wish that the Naples consider a vicing a Naples as the father of a family maket the small-pex breaking out among his children, provided it did not weaken the patient too much. It is a salutary crisis."

A volume containing many such specimens of Napoleonic burnanity as the above will greatly shock Abbott and other American bookmakers who have been for the last dozen years whitewashing the reputation of Napoleon. We can well imagine that he will now, however, became immercely popular with Mr. Taaddeus Sevens and the Rev. Dr Beecher. REV. Dr. E. H. CHAPIN.-The New York Tribune gives the following synopsis of Rev. The Board of the American Baptist Mission Dr. E. H. Chapin's Touckegiving sermon. Dr. pin if one of the most chaste and magnificent pulpit orators to whom we ever listened: plargement of the work of this body is p npon the committee, especially in Europe and Africa, and the Board is called together to de-cide what shall be their action.

Dr. E. H. Chapin's Thanksgiving sermon. Dr. Chapin's Wone of the most chaste and magnificant pulpit orators to whom we ever listened:

After reading selections from the Scriptures appropriate to the occasion of Thanksgiving, Dr. Chapin took his text from Genesia, ix., 13: I do set my bow in the clouds.

It was promised by the Almighty that the deluge should subside and the waters no more cover the earth, and as a token of the promise file set his bow in the cloud. To day our thoughts may be exalted by considering the leason of the bow in the cloud, which teaches no the moral and spiritual significance of phenomen. Various mations associated devout ideas with the rainbow. In some of these conceptions there is comething abourd physically, but they all have a moral or spiritual significance. At the present time we behold the glory of our harvests, the physical process of which is simple enough; but who can grasp the subject in harvests, the physical process of which is simple enough; but who can grasp the subject in the least or religious analysis? Our annual thanks giving is a religious service, to thank God for the harvests springing out of the earth, and when we dwell upon our dependence to the earth and the beneficence of nature, we feel that we owe these bleasings, not to a natural, but to a divine, power, which we now assemble in our churches to thank, and when we recognize the moral and spiritual significance of things. Throughout the last year, in which we have emerged from a terrible war, we have been bleased with plentiful harvest; and in this condition of things God has been very merciful to us, and we should be thankful that famine has not been added to our burdens in this trying crisis. Many, however, suffer to-day with which we have emerged from a terrible war, we have been bleased with plentiful harvest; and in this condition of things God has been very merciful to us, and we should be thankful that famine has not been added to our burdens in this trying crisis. arise; severes of commotion and contest are threatened, and perhaps may come. With my whole beart I pray for the continuance of the demestic peace and quiet of the country. I desire, most creently, the restoration of affection and harmony to all its parts. I desire that every citizen of the whole country may look to this Government with no other sentiments but those of grateful respect and eitschment. But I cannot yield, even to kind feelings, the cane of the Constitution, the true glory of the country, and the great trust which we hold in our hands for succeeding area. If the Constitution cannot be maintained without meeting these scenes of commotion and contest, however unwelcome, they must come. We cannot, we must not, we dare not, omit to do that which, in our judgment, the safety of the Union requires.
